

Sermon Guide – Sept. 24, 2023

“What do you want?” That’s the question asks of the two men following him. “What do you want?”

So, I invite you to think about that question and several others from today’s sermon:

How would your life be different if you were not a Christian?

What would you miss about church?

Which of your friends would not be your friends? What if you had never met the people you have met in Sunday school? How would you be different?

How would you spend your time differently?

What do you do because you are a Christian that makes you happy?

If you were not a Christian, would your life be less interesting?

What do you want?
